Avilar Partners with Capital Edge Learning to Offer Premier Custom Courses with WebMentor LMS

Columbia, MD – August 10, 2006 - Avilar, Inc., a leader in eLearning and competency management, added Capital Edge Learning to its reputable list of partners this week. With the partnership, Avilar now offers clients exceptional custom-built courses for its learning management and competency management systems.

“With the addition of Capital Edge, Avilar offers an efficient and direct way for customers and prospects to access one of the industry’s leaders in custom course content,” says Avilar CEO John Skowlund. “The partnership of a high-quality learning management system like WebMentor LMS and superior custom content by Capital Edge is a tremendous benefit to our customers. We are proud to be in association with Capital Edge.”

Avilar and Capital Edge have been working together for several months and just recently signed a partnership agreement. Capital Edge’s work with Avilar and Avilar clients includes content development, technology integration and consulting services. Under the agreement, each company can offer one another’s products and services under their own brand name. The two companies may also team together to handle larger projects.

“We think Avilar provides outstanding web-based competency management and learning solutions to a broad spectrum of clients,” says David Loughran, CEO of Capital Edge Learning. Capital Edge President Melanie Regan adds, “Our partnership with Avilar gives us a tremendous competitive advantage by providing our clients with access to the full suite of WebMentor eLearning products and the competency management product, WebMentor Skills.”

Capital Edge contacted Avilar after reading about the growing eLearning and competency management company in an industry publication. “After speaking with David and seeing some samples of their custom course capabilities I was confident a partnership agreement would strengthen both of our companies and our customers,” says Skowlund. “We are proud to now officially be in association with Capital Edge.”

The two companies are working on several projects together and will release more information on those projects later this year.
